Coming to the Netherlands for a cultural exchange (au pair)
1. Why have we written this publication?

Would you like to come to the Netherlands in the context of a cultural exchange programme? For a stay of over 90 days, you must apply for a residence permit.

In this publication you can find out:
• the conditions for the residence permits;
• how the application procedure works;
• what rights correspond to the residence permit;
• which rules you must abide by;
• what you have to do if your situation changes;
• where you can obtain further information;
• what to do when you have the nationality of a country that is part of the European Union, the European Economic Area or Switzerland.

Would you like to come to the Netherlands for another purpose? Then there are other admission procedures. See www.ind.nl for further information.

2. How you can obtain a residence permit?

Au pair: always via an au pair agency recognised by the IND.

Voluntary work in the context of the European Solidarity Corps or a cultural exchange programme of a cultural exchange organisation: always via a cultural exchange organisation. For more information about the European Voluntary Service, see www.nji.nl.

Working Holiday Program (WHP) or the Working Holiday Scheme (WHS):

Personally request a residence permit at the IND. If you have Argentinian nationality, you can only submit the application at the Dutch embassy in Buenos Aires. If you are a citizen of Hong Kong and you are holder of a BNO-passport or a Hong Kong SAR passport, you can only submit the application at the Dutch authorities in Hong Kong.

Only recognised sponsors

Not every au pair agency or every cultural exchange programme can submit an application for a residence permit. The au pair agency or the cultural exchange organisation must be recognised by the IND as sponsor. A summary of recognised sponsors can be found on www.ind.nl.
3. Which conditions must your organisation fulfil?

The following general terms and conditions apply to all exchange youngsters:

- You have a valid passport.
- You stay in the Netherlands for a maximum of 1 year.
- You have never had a regular residence permit in the context of a cultural exchange.
- You are aged 18 or older, but are younger than 31.
- You do not pose a risk to public order or national safety. That means that you have not been convicted of a crime and you have not committed any war crimes, terrorist acts or crimes against humanity.
- You take out healthcare insurance in the Netherlands.
- You must undergo a test for tuberculosis in the Netherlands. This test must be carried out within 3 months of the residence permit being issued. If necessary, you must be treated for TB. If you have the nationality of one of the countries listed in the appendix ‘Exemption from the obligation to undergo a tuberculosis (TB) test’? Then the TB test is not required.
- You may not pay a deposit to a (Dutch or foreign) intermediary agency or exchange organisation.
- You may not have a contract with a host family or a (Dutch or foreign) intermediary agency or exchange organisation in which it is recorded that you must pay a (money)fine if you do not comply with the contract.
- You may not carry out tasks for persons who have special care needs, which requires you to have specific skills.
- You may not have stayed in the Netherlands unlawfully at any time.
- You may not have provided incorrect details for a previous residence permit or failed to mention relevant details.

Working Holiday Program or Working Holiday Scheme

Aside from the general terms and conditions, the following applies for the Working Holiday Program or Working Holiday Scheme:

- You are a national from: Canada, New-Zealand, Australia, Argentinia, South Korea or you are a citizen of Hong Kong and you are holder of a BNO-passport or a Hong Kong SAR passport.
- You have a return ticket or sufficient funds to buy this.

NB. Each year a maximum of 100 young Argentinian, 100 South Korean and 100 Hong Kong people may participate. Fore more information, see www.ind.nl.

Au pairs

Aside from the general terms and conditions, the following applies for au pairs:

- You must stay with a host family that consists of at least 2 people.
- The host family has sufficient income for at least 1 year. An income requirement of 1.5 times the statutory minimum wage of the Netherlands applies. For more information, see www.ind.nl.
- You have not previously worked for the host family, even abroad.
- You may carry out light household tasks.
- You may carry out light household tasks for a maximum of 8 hours per day, up to 30 hours per week. You have at least 2 days off per week. You are not paid for these tasks.
- You are provided with accommodation, food and pocket money by the host family. Your pocket money may not be higher than the amount that the Tax Department has set for au pairs. See www.belastingdienst.nl.
- You must draw up a daily schedule with your host family.
- You sign a awareness declaration with the host family. With the signing of this declaration it is declared that you have no family-law relationship to the third degree with one of the members of the host family.
- You may not pay over € 34 for items such as registration fees, intermediary costs and/or taking a course (prescribed by the authorities of your country of origin) in preparation of your stay in the Netherlands.

Voluntary work in the context of the European Solidarity Corps

Aside from the general terms and conditions for Voluntary Work in the context of the European Solidarity Corps applies that you reside in the Netherlands in the context of an exchange programme that has been approved by the Dutch Youth Institute.

Private cultural exchanges

Aside from the general terms and conditions, the following applies to private cultural exchanges:

- You must reside within a host family that comprises at least 2 persons.
- You have not previously worked for the host family, even abroad.
- In certain cases, you must be aged between 15 and 18 in order to take part in a cultural exchange programme. This will be made clear by the exchange programme itself.
4. When is a residence permit not required?

You do not need a residence permit if you have the nationality of one of the following countries:

Please note! You must register at a cultural exchange organisation. This does not apply for the Working Holiday Program and Working Holiday Scheme. The cultural exchange organisation assesses whether you comply with the conditions. Only if you comply with the conditions you may stay in the Netherlands in the context of cultural exchange.
5. Which documents do you need?

The au pair agency or the cultural exchange organisation will apply for the residence permit for you. In order to obtain the residence permit, the organisation must be able to demonstrate that you fulfil the relevant conditions; they will need documentation in order to do so. The organisation will let you know which documents you need to provide, e.g. a copy of your passport. In order to register in the Municipal Personal Records Database in the Netherlands, a legalised and translated birth certificate is required.

Official means of evidence
Official foreign means of evidence must be issued and legalised by the competent authorities of the country that issued the means of evidence. In some countries the document must then also be legalised by the Dutch embassy or the Dutch consulate in the country in question. In ‘apostille countries’ an apostille, issued by the competent local authorities, is sufficient. If no Dutch embassy or consulate is available in that country, the document must be legalised by the Dutch embassy or consulate responsible for that country. Official foreign means of evidence include, for example, birth certificates and marriage certificates. Having these means of evidence legalised or provided with an apostille stamp can take a long time. You should start several months in advance of submitting your application with having documents legalised or provided with an apostille stamp in the country of origin.

For more information about legalisation or apostille requirements for documents per country and any exceptions to these requirements, you can telephone the ‘Public Information Service’, telephone number 1400. You can also visit the website www.government.nl.

Legalisation
A document that is legal in one country is not necessarily legal in another. That is why you must have official foreign documents legalised for use in the Netherlands. This means that the authorities that issued the document must declare that it is official. This confirms the authenticity of the signature on the document and the capacity of the signatory. The Dutch embassy or consulate then legalises the document. The embassy or the consulate then checks to ensure that the signature is genuine.

If no Dutch embassy or consulate is available in that country, the document must be legalised by the Dutch embassy or consulate responsible for that country.

Sometimes a so-called apostille stamp on the document will suffice. The Ministers of Justice or Foreign Affairs can issue this type of stamp abroad. The document does not then need to be legalised by the Dutch embassy or consulate. An apostille stamp is only an option if the document comes from a country that is affiliated to the Netherlands via the Apostille treaty. You can ask the Consular Services Centre within the Foreign Office whether the country is affiliated via the Apostille treaty. Look at www.government.nl for more information. You can contact the local authorities yourself for legalisation or an apostille stamp.

Legalisation costs money. You must always pay these costs, even if you do not receive the document or it does not arrive on time. The amount you have to pay for legalisation varies per country. You must ask the authorities in your country of origin about these costs. The Dutch embassy or consulate in the country of origin may also impose additional charges (e.g. fax costs).

Translation
All of the documents that you submit with the application must be drawn up in Dutch, English, French or German. If this is not the case, you must have them translated by a translator who has been certified by a court. Certified translators are listed in the Register of certified translators and interpreters (Rbtv). See www.bureauwbtv.nl for further information.

Are you having the document translated abroad? Then the translation must be legalised. You can thus demonstrate that a certified translator has been used.
In many cases, you will need a special visa in order to travel to the Netherlands for a stay of over 90 days. This is called a Regular Provisional Residence Permit (mvv). The procedure is then slightly different to a case which does not require an mvv.

Residence permit without mvv
If you do not need an mvv the au pair agency or the cultural exchange organisation will apply for a residence permit for you. The organisation is advised to do this while you are still abroad. Once the IND has indicated to the organisation that it will issue a residence permit, you can come to the Netherlands. Then you can be sure that you are not travelling to the Netherlands unnecessarily. The employer can also submit an application while you are in the Netherlands. The problem with this is that you do not know, at that moment, whether you will be issued with a residence permit. It can also be difficult to obtain all of the necessary documents in the Netherlands.

Access and residence
The au pair agency or the cultural exchange organisation will apply for an mvv and the residence permit for you. If you do not need an mvv, the au pair agency or the cultural exchange organisation will notify you of this fact. You must collect the mvv within 3 months at the Dutch embassy or consulate in the country of origin or country of continuous residence.
After issuance of the regular provisional residence permit (mvv), which is placed in your passport, you have 90 days to travel to the Netherlands. Upon arrival in the Netherlands, you can collect your residence permit within two weeks. You will be notified of where and when you must collect your residence permit by the au pair agency or the cultural exchange organisation.

The appendix contains an overview of the application procedure for a residence permit.

Please note! Do you have the Turkish nationality and do you want to come to the Netherlands as an au pair? If you’re already in the Netherlands (for instance, on the grounds of a short-stay visa), then the regular provisional residence permit (mvv) requirement will not apply to you if you comply with the other conditions for the purpose of residency ‘au pair exchange’. The au pair agency must then apply for a residence permit for you without an mvv. If you are still in your country of origin, then the procedure ‘Access and Stay’ applies in any case. For more information, see www.ind.nl.

6. How does the application procedure work?

The cost of the procedure
Applying for an mvv and a residence permit costs money. These costs are referred to as ‘fees’. The au pair agency or the cultural exchange organisation pays the fees to the IND on your behalf. If the fees are not paid, the IND will not process your application. You will not be refunded your money if the application is turned down. There is a summary of the fees on www.ind.nl.

Duration of the procedure
If the application is complete, the IND will usually decide within 2 weeks. The procedure can last up to a maximum of 90 days. Bear in mind that it takes time for the mediation process to take place and to obtain a residence permit. So register with a recognised au pair agency or cultural exchange organisation in good time. Contact the organisation for further information.
7.
What rights correspond to the residence permit?

Here, you can see which rights you have with a residence permit for cultural exchange.

Validity
You stay in the Netherlands for a maximum of 1 year with your residence permit. The residence permit is valid as long as you fulfil the conditions. The residence permit cannot be extended.

Work
As an au pair, you may only carry out light household tasks for your host family. Exchange youngsters admitted under the WHP or WHS are allowed to carry out incidental work without the employer having been issued a work permit. As an exchange youngster, you may only work as a volunteer if this is within the context of the exchange programme set up by the cultural exchange organisation.
For more information, see www.ind.nl.

Family-members or relatives
You cannot apply for a residence permit for family-members or relatives.

Please note! If you apply for benefits in the Netherlands, your residence permit will be withdrawn.
8. Which rules must you abide by?

The organisation that submits the residence permit for you functions as the sponsor. The sponsor is responsible for ensuring that you stay in the Netherlands on a legal basis. Not only when the application for the residence permit is made but also thereafter. It is important that you are familiar with the rules that apply to the au pair agency or the cultural exchange organisation. You must also abide by specific rules.

The organisation’s obligations

Information obligation
The organisation must pass on relevant details, facts and circumstances to the IND. This concerns anything that corresponds to your residence permit. For example:
- if you move to live with another host family;
- if another au pair agency or another cultural exchange organisation becomes your sponsor;
- if you go to work even though that is not permitted;
- if the au pair agency or the cultural exchange organisation is no longer in a position to monitor you;
- if the agreed daily schedule is not adhered to by you or your host family or is amended (this only applies to au pairs);
- if there are any changes to the composition of the host family;
- if you leave the Netherlands.

Administration obligation
The organisation also has an administration obligation. It must collate and retain relevant information about you. For example:
- the daily schedule with the host family where you are staying as an au pair;
- a copy of your passport;
- the name and address of the main person in the host family where you are staying;
- the period for which you are residing with the host family and the composition of the host family;
- documents that show that the host family where you are staying has sufficient income;
- a summary of the efforts that the au pair agency or cultural exchange organisation has made in order to ensure your welfare and wellbeing during your stay in the Netherlands.

If the organisation is no longer your sponsor, they must still retain the information for 5 years. The IND can request these details at any moment in order to check whether the organisation is fulfilling its obligations.

Your sponsor
The au pair agency or the cultural exchange organisation remains your sponsor until:
- you are no longer an exchange youngster with the organisation and the organisation has informed the IND;
- you have left the Netherlands and will no longer be returning;
- the institution is no longer recognised as a sponsor;
- your residence permit has been withdrawn;
- you have obtained a permanent residence permit or a residence permit for another residence purpose.

Duty of care
The organisation also has a duty of care. This means, for example, that it must use a careful recruitment and selection procedure for exchange youngsters and host families. The organisation must also provide you with information about your stay in the Netherlands, the details of the exchange programme and your accommodation with the host family. Furthermore, the organisation must inform you about your rights and obligation as an au pair or exchange youngster and the rights and obligations of your host family. The organisation must regularly find out how you are getting on, whether things are working out in the host family and if you are being given sufficient opportunity to familiarise yourself with Dutch culture and society. If there are problems (between you and your host family), the organisation must resolve them. If you reside in the Netherlands as an au pair, the au pair agency must ensure that you do not carry out any work other than light household tasks and only for the hours detailed in the daily schedule which has been agreed with the host family.

Your obligations
As an exchange youngster, you also have an information obligation. You must report important changes to the IND. You must also notify the IND if you change your cultural exchange organisation or au pair agency.
9. What happens if your situation changes?

Another host family, au pair agency or cultural exchange organisation?
Your residence permit remains valid if you transfer to another host family or organisation.

If you no longer fulfil the conditions to reside as an exchange youngster, you will have to leave the Netherlands unless you have other legal grounds to reside in the country.
10. What happens if you do not abide by the rules?

The IND can check to ensure that you and the au pair agency or the cultural exchange organisation are abiding by the rules as and when it sees fit. If this is not the case, you could be faced with the following consequences.

Withdrawal of the residence permit
If you or your organisation have provided incorrect information in the application for a residence permit or have withheld relevant information, your residence permit can be withdrawn. The residence permit could also be withdrawn if it transpires that you no longer fulfil the conditions. If the au pair agency or the cultural exchange organisation has failed to abide by the rules on numerous occasions, the IND could decide that the institution may no longer function as a sponsor. In this instance, your residence permit will be withdrawn. If this was not your fault, then you have 3 months to find a new cultural exchange organisation or au pair agency. That new organisation must be recognised by the IND as a sponsor. If you are unsuccessful in finding a new sponsor within the given time frame, then you must leave the Netherlands.

Reporting a criminal act
The IND has a duty to report any reasonable suspicions of a criminal act with the police. For example, if you have deliberately provided incorrect information. The police transfers the matter to the Public Prosecution Service. If this is the case, you could be sentenced to a prison term or receive a fine. The residence permit may also be withdrawn.

Departure from the Netherlands
If your residence permit is no longer valid or is withdrawn, you must leave the Netherlands. The IND will check this. If you do not leave of your own accord, the Dutch government may deport you. The costs incurred by the government can be recuperated from your sponsor.
11. What can you do if the organisation is not abiding by the rules?

If the au pair agency or the cultural exchange organisation is not abiding by the rules set by the IND, you must notify the IND. The IND will investigate whether measures must be taken. Depending on the type of complaint, the IND will pass this onto the police and/or the Social Affairs and Employment Inspectorate. The host family may also contact the IND.

Many exchange youngsters have a great time in the Netherlands, but you may come up against a tricky situation while you are in the country. What can you do if you are confronted with a difficult situation? If you have a complaint about your host family (you no longer have your passport or you have to carry out other tasks - not light household tasks - or work longer hours than has been agreed), you must first try to resolve the issue between yourselves. If that is unsuccessful, you can contact the au pair agency or cultural exchange organisation. If your au pair agency or cultural exchange organisation cannot or does not want to help resolve the issue, you may contact the IND.

In serious case, e.g. abuse or exploitation, you can contact the Dutch Aliens Police directly or call the special reporting point for au pairs on 06 10 82 35 94.
I would like to work as an au pair in the Netherlands, how can I organise this?
Register with an au pair agency recognised by the IND.
Host families must do the same. The au pair agency will mediate the procedure. An application for a residence permit always runs via the au pair agency. Neither you nor your host family can apply for a residence permit.

How do I find the most suitable au pair agency?
On www.ind.nl, you can find a list of all au pair agencies and cultural exchange organisations that are recognised by the IND as a sponsor. Only recognised sponsors can apply for a residence permit for au pairs or exchange youngsters.
The IND recognises organisations only if they are trustworthy and conduct an approved exchange programme.

How long will it take before I obtain a residence permit?
If the application is complete, the IND will usually decide within 2 weeks. The legal time limit is 90 days. Bear in mind that the au pair agency can only submit an application if a host family has been found and all of the paperwork is in order. A cultural exchange organisation must also find voluntary work for you. Ask the organisation how much time they need to do so and register in good time.

Can I come to the Netherlands while I am waiting for the residence permit?
If you do not need an mvv, the organisation can submit an application while you are in the Netherlands. The problem with this is that you do not know, at that moment, whether you will be issued with a residence permit. It can also be difficult to obtain all of the necessary documents in the Netherlands. You therefore run the risk that you will end up in the Netherlands even though you will be unable to stay. If you do need an mvv, you must await the decision regarding the application in your country of origin.

What changes do I have to report the IND?
Any changes that involve your residence permit must always be passed onto the IND, for example:
• if you move to live with another host family;
• if you are to be placed by another au pair agency or cultural exchange organisation;
• if you engage in different voluntary work;
• if you go to work even though that is not permitted;
• if the agreed daily schedule is not adhered to by you or your host family or is amended (this only applies to au pairs);
• if you leave the Netherlands.
If another au pair agency or cultural exchange organisation is to mediate for you, you must also promptly inform your old au pair agency or cultural exchange organisation.

I have not ‘clicked’ with my host family. Will my residence permit remain valid if I move to another host family?
Your residence permit remains valid if you transfer to another host family. The same goes if you transfer to another au pair agency. Are you going to another host family? Then you and the au pair agency or cultural exchange organisation must notify the IND. If another au pair agency or cultural exchange organisation is to mediate for you, this organisation will become your new sponsor. It is important that you report this to the IND. The organisation must, of course, be recognised as a sponsor by the IND. You must also inform your old au pair agency or cultural exchange organisation promptly about your transfer.

You are not being given the opportunity to familiarise yourself with Dutch culture and society, what now?
If the au pair agency or the cultural exchange organisation is not abiding by the rules set by the IND, you must notify the IND. The IND will investigate whether measures must be taken. Do you have a complaint about your host family? Try to sort it out between yourselves in the first instance. If that is unsuccessful, you can contact the au pair agency or cultural exchange organisation. In serious cases, e.g. abuse or exploitation, you can contact the Dutch Aliens Police directly or call the special reporting point for au pairs on 06 10 82 35 94.

Processing of personal data
The Immigration and Naturalisation Service (IND) processes personal data when it processes your application, notification, or request. This means that if needed the IND will request data from you yourself and other organisations or persons. The IND also uses and stores data and shares them with other organisations. When doing so, the IND strictly adheres to the stipulations of privacy legislation. For instance, the IND must treat data safely and with due care. The law also gives rights. At your request, you are allowed to see which data on you the IND processes. You can also get information on why the IND does so and to whom your data have been passed on. On www.ind.nl you can read how the IND processes your data and which rights you have. You can also read how to use your rights.
APPENDIX
Overview of the application procedure for a residence permit

The table below indicates what you, the au-pair agency or the cultural exchange organisation and the IND must do in order to obtain a residence permit for a cultural exchange.

| Application for residence permit for a cultural exchange: who does what? |
|--------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| What do you do? | What does the organisation do? | What does the IND do? |
| 1 On the basis of the publication, check to ensure that you fulfil the conditions to obtain a residence permit. A summary of recognised sponsors can be found on www.ind.nl. | Your au-pair agency or cultural exchange organisation mediates between you and the host family. The organisation will provide information about your stay in the Netherlands, the details of the exchange programme and your accommodation with the host family. The organisation will also tell you about your rights and obligations and those of the host family. | The IND assesses the application and lets the organisation know whether you will be permitted entry to the Netherlands. If the application is complete, this can take place in 2 weeks. |
| 2 You must ensure that the organisation has all paperwork and documents necessary to submit an application to the IND. | The organisation will submit an application for a residence permit to the IND. If you need a Regular Provisional Residence Permit (mvv), your application will cover both the mvv and the residence permit (TEV procedure). The organisation pays the fees to the IND. | If an mvv is required, the IND will inform the embassy or the consulate of its positive decision. The IND will indicate to the organisation where and when you can collect the residence permit in the Netherlands. |
| 3 | The organisation will explain the IND’s decision to you. The organisation can also appeal against an IND decision. | If an mvv is required, the IND will inform the embassy or the consulate of its positive decision. The IND will indicate to the organisation where and when you can collect the residence permit in the Netherlands. |
| 4 You will go to the Dutch embassy or the Dutch consulate to collect the mvv. You can then travel to the Netherlands within 90 days. If you do not need an mvv, you can travel to the Netherlands immediately. | The organisation will indicate where you can collect your residence permit once you arrive in the Netherlands. | The IND will check your identity and then issue your residence permit. |
| 5 After arrival in the Netherlands, you must report to the IND within 2 weeks so that you can collect your residence permit. If necessary, you must have a TB test conducted by the Municipal Health Service within 3 months. If you are not insured for healthcare costs in the Netherlands, you must take out healthcare insurance within 4 months. | | |
